

Presents

Advanced Workplace Violence Prevention

Tuesday, October 22nd, 2013 | Check in @ 8:30am | Workshop 9am-1pm
Cost: FREE

Hosted by the SLS Hotel, 465 S La Cienega Blvd, Los Angeles, CA 90048

Attire: Business Casual | Valet Parking will be discounted to $12.

Course Description

Cal State Fullerton's Extension program provides extensive technical training and certificate programs in computer forensics, crime and intelligence analysis, investigations, and corporate security management.

This workshop instructs participants in advanced workplace violence prevention methods proven by case studies and supported by statistical evidence. The training will include lecture, group analysis, and practical exercises designed to increase awareness and empower participants in suspicious activities reporting.

For more information on CSUF Extension programs or to register for courses, visit www.csufextension.org

Featured Speaker

Jim Biesterfeld has over 40 years of investigative experience. As a former Criminal Investigator and Counter-Intelligence Special Agent for the US Army, Mr. Biesterfeld specialized in conducting national security investigations, surveillance operations and counter-intelligence activity. He is the owner of Sovereign Executive Services where he currently works as a security professional providing a diverse array of investigative services, which include undercover operations, threat and vulnerability analysis, stalking intervention, counter-terrorism support and specialized training. Mr. Biesterfeld teaches Basic Principles of Investigation and Applied Investigative Practices for the Private Investigation certificate program at Cal State Fullerton and is the author of Catastrophic Event Management Planning: Slaying the Beast: Using Pre-Incident Indicators to Detect Terrorist Activity; chapter contributor to Stalking, Threatening and Attacking Public Figures; and has currently been contracted by Oxford University Press as a chapter contributor to the forthcoming International Threat Assessment Handbook.

A Bureau of Security & Investigative Services continuing education
Certificate of Completion will be provided to all attendees.

For more information, contact: Jeff Zisner, CPP

Infragard's Commercial Facilities Sector Coordinator / President & CEO of AEGIS Security & Investigations
jzisner@aegis.com | 310-838-2787

Register at by October 18th, 2013 at www.aegis.com